A Welcome to High School

by Brandon Collins

Welcome 7th graders of the 2003-2004 school year to Sloan-Hendrix High School. In high school you will find opportunities to join clubs, and to be involved in various activities, and to rise to new challenges. Some of these are junior student council, BETA club, FFA, FCCLA, FBLA, art club, basketball, baseball, band, and a multitude of challenging courses in every field imaginable. You will go to your first prom, homecoming, and don't forget, only five more years until you are seniors. Most people think that high school is more fun than elementary. You have more freedom; more of a chance to make your own choices. Just make sure you make the right choices. High school is a lot of fun, but don't forget to keep your grades up. If you give it your best, you can't fail.

Co-Valedictorians Ryan Difani and Phillip Dunn and Salutatorian April Smith are the top 6th grade graduates.

The Best Thing About High School

by Aaron Johnson

At Sloan-Hendrix, there are many great things about high school. For example, many of the students enjoy the Candy Store. Having a locker is a plus to many students. But there are a few things that some students really like.

Matt T. Wilson—the Certs at the Candy Store
Peyton Murphy, Jonathan Steele, Shawn Tippy, and Matt Wilson—the ladies
Leah Wilson—long lunch break
Brandon Gilbert—Ms. Lawrey's class
Brandon Collins—the breaks in between classes
Matt R. Wilson—the top lockers
Uriah Casillas—being in spreadsheets
Allison Starr—Mrs. Yancey's English class
Heather Keough—Spanish class
Kristina Stephens—showing for the FFA
Teresa Bradley—Mr. Hailey's class

Lisa Lodholtz—playing on the basketball team
Riley Adams—baseball for Sloan-Hendrix
Theresa Schild—different classes
Ben Johnson—more freedom of expression
Brad Bridges—the morning break
Scott Archer—not having the same teacher all day
Danielle Jones—Mr. Griffin's business applications class
Tim Barnett—having the Candy Store
Kevin Rorex—driving to school
Jessie Poteet—being in Student Council

A Little Advice From Those Who Know

by Tim Barnett

Here's a little advice from our 7th Graders to the up-and-coming 6th graders. Listen to what these guys have to say, they're in the position you're going to be in next year.

Trevor Anderson, Drew Meyer, and Corey Baldrige—Use deodorant.

Kandice Henson—Don't get in trouble or get a paddling by Mr. Walton because it hurts bad, just ask around.

Amanda Cole—High school is not as scary as it may seem.

Marva Williams—Try not to do drugs because they are stupid and if you do, you're crazy.

Royce Pace—Wear cologne, too.

Samantha Wicker—Be nice to the other kids and have a good time.

Lucretia Brown—Don't get caught in the hall at lunch after the bell rings by Mr. Griffin.

Christopher Machost—Be good.

Katie Williams—Be on time, try to be clean, and make some friends.

Stanley Archer—Don't bring candy into class unless you want the teacher to eat it for you.

Robbie Boozer—Try not to make fun of Coach Richey's hair (what little he has) and wear deodorant.

Christie Caldwell—Take a bath because smelly people aren't liked that well, and always be prepared for class.

Colton Johnston—Watch your step.

Heather McBroom—Don't get on any of the teacher's nerves, trust me, you don't want to.

Charley Guilliams—Don't be stupid.

Brian Cole—Don't talk back.

Good Advice

by Jonathan Steele

Next year there will be a new group of 7th graders. A new group that will have to learn the system. A new group that will have to learn what you can and can not do. High school is totally different from elementary. You have more freedom, and yet more people are watching you. I have gone around school asking students and teachers for advice and hints on how to succeed in high school.

Peyton Murphy — do not turn the lights off on anybody in the bathroom

Aaron Johnson — get good grades

Matt T. Wilson — if you do something wrong, don't be afraid to admit it

Kristina Stephens — it's all about the cows

Kayla Caldwell — be wise in your course selection

Felicia Baldrige — make good deals with Coach Richey, he always keeps his word

Jessica O'Quinn — be at school on time

Elisha Orrick — don't let anyone tell you that you can't succeed

Matthew Ryals — think for yourself

Shawn Tippy — be suspicious of the opposite sex

Allison Starr — have fun and try your best, you have to be here anyway

Jonathan Steele — put grades before sports

Jessie Crawford — stand up for yourself

Matt R. Wilson — don't pet stray dogs

Uriah Casillas — don't sweat the petty stuff

Robert Dominguez — pay attention in school now because I promise you'll wish you had when you get into upper level courses, especially in math and English

Kandace Perrin — try to get along with everyone and make the best of school and above all never give up because it's not always easy.

Krystal Hendon — do your best and have fun; it's over before you know it.

Autumn Bushong — don't interrupt one of Mrs. Newton's classes

Riley Adams — set a goal and be sure nothing stops you from accomplishing it

Jennifer Hackworth — try to do your best at everything

Cody Adams — do your best and never give up

Brad Bridges — wear deodorant

Mrs. Matthews — mature a little

Mrs. Holland — mind your manners, do your homework and enjoy high school

Mr. Lee — keep a good attitude, always be on time and bring your books, pencil and paper to class every day

Ms. Blake — High school is a different kind of place. You have to take responsibility for your behavior, your school work, and your dreams — Learn to ask for support and help but don't expect others to do for you what you can do for yourself.

Mr. Walton — High school is a place where boys and girls become young men and young ladies. Learning to be responsible and respectful are two great attributes for all people. It is our desire that all students will graduate and become productive citizens in society. We look forward to getting to know you over the next few years.

Mister and Miss SHES

Ryan Difani and April Smith have been chosen by the Sloan-Hendrix elementary faculty as this year's Mr. and Miss Sloan-Hendrix Elementary School.

Mr. Difani is the son of Derrick and Cindy Difani of Pocahontas. He is a member of the band and also participates in basketball.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Terry Smith of Imboden and Patty Cox of Black Rock. She is a member of the GT Academy and participates in band and basketball.
